

Empathy

Why must you teach your children...empathy is the rock-solid foundation for almost every brick used in building solid citizens of today and tomorrow. It is the cement that holds together the secret formula for constructing caring and compassionate human beings, and it is as essential for our survival as air and water.

Barbara C. Unell and
Jerry L. Whyckoff