

On the Future

The future is not a result of choices among alternative paths offered by the present, but a place that is created-created in the mind and will, created in the next activity.

The future is not some place we are going to, but one we are creating. The paths are not to be found, but made, and the activity of making them changes both the maker and the destination.

John Scharr 1928-2011